This a sample pdf file I retrieved from online source, Key aspects of text to speech technology involve the transformation of written text into spoken audio, the production of natural-sounding speech with appropriate prosody and intonation, and the creation of new voices based on the desired characteristics and preferences.